

WINNIPEG TO EDMONTON 27 HOURS

THE VICE-PRESIDENT'S SPECIAL MAKES RAPID RUN.

Track Completed to the Station Yards This Morning—
Ceremony Of Driving The Last Spike Takes Place
At Two O'clock.

STORES CLOSE AT 12 NOON.

DRIVING THE LAST SPIKE 2 P.

CIVIC BANQUET, QUEEN'S HOTEL THIS EVENING.

The Canadian Northern Railway was completed to the station grounds this forenoon. Since Wednesday evening railroad has been at Boundary Avenue, only three quarters of a mile from the grounds. This gap was closed in the morning and by 10.30 the first trains pulled up at the new station. They were the construction train and the special in which the officials of the road came up from Winnipeg.

The city will be en fete this afternoon in honor of the event. Business houses close at noon to give all a chance to attend the formal ceremony in connection with the completion of the line and to participate in the general celebration of the afternoon. Though cold this morning, with a raw west wind, the weather has brightened up considerably and promises fairly moderate weather for the afternoon. Flags are flying on the public buildings and on many of the business blocks. These will doubt multiply during the next few hours and the city's reputation for a suitable display of bunting in season will be sustained.

The ceremony, which will take place at the C. N. R. station, will be under the auspices of the Canadian Northern Railway Company.

CROWDS WATCHED THE WORK.

When the steel gang, who suspended operations Wednesday, commenced laying rails again this morning on Boundary Avenue, they were followed and cheered by crowds of citizens, old and young. The big locomotive gaily decked with bunting and pushing the cars laden with rails, preceded by the track layers, steadily advanced, and by ten o'clock had crossed First street, and entered the station yard. As the train passed the rear of Queen's Avenue school, the doors of the school were thrown open and the children poured out, lining the fence and crowding around the locomotive, cheering its advance.

CEREMONY AT 2 P. M.

There ceremony of laying the last rail at the station will take place at two o'clock this afternoon, when His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Sulgea will drive the silver spike. His Worship, Mayor McKenzie and the aldermen of Edmonton will carry the rail into place.

TWENTY-SEVEN HOUR RUN

The first passenger train to enter Edmonton over the C.N.R. lines arrived this morning at the city limits at 3.30. It was a special from Winnipeg, composed of the two private cars "Nepawa" and "Athabasca" and one day coach, and bore several officials of the C.N.R., amongst whom were Vice-President A. W. McKenzie, D. D. Mann, General Manager James and J. Sutherland, traffic Manager. The special left Winnipeg at 12.30 Wednesday evening and arrived in Edmonton this morning at 3.30, making the trip in 27 hours.

A Wonderful Country

country into which they settled to a high state of cultivation. They are breaking up as a communistic settlement, the younger people adopting the customs of the country and leaving the older community for new homes in the further west. Some of the best farms and best developed regions further northwest are settled by this younger element which have gone out from this Manitoba settlement.

Everywhere throughout the whole Canadian Northwest the elevator is the dominating feature of the landscape. Looking away in any direction one can mark the sites of towns by the long distances in that country of broad tablelands. Almost every village has its elevator and the towns from two to three up to ten or twelve, as at Indian Head. The elevator capacity of the Canadian Northwest is now reckoned at forty-one million bushels, while the elevators at Port Arthur, on Lake Superior, the terminal for foreign shipment of Northwest Canada grain, is 125 million bushels; the largest elevator there having a capacity of seven million bushels—big enough to hold the wheat gathered from 350,000 acres of an average crop.

Brandon is the largest as well as the town of the most importance in Manitoba outside of Winnipeg. It is a well built city, finely located on the Assiniboia River. At the experimental farm that which first impressed the writer was its cleanly appearance in the experiments. We are told that the farmers both in the region about Brandon and about Indian Head, where is located another of the Dominion Government experimental farms, have adopted the cropping methods employed at the farms. Mr. Bedford, the superintendent at Brandon, and Mr. McKay, the superintendent at Indian Head, both practice and advocate the system of summer fallow. They are of the opinion that, with proper rotation and fallowing, the soil of Canada is practically inexhaustible for wheat production. As the country grows older it may be necessary to crop one year and let lie fallow the next, but with the present fertility of the soil, letting the land lie fallow one year in three is the more common practice, and this has to be handled with some care to prevent lodgment of grain.

Leaving Brandon early the following morning, we turned back towards Winnipeg to Portage La Prairie, which is on the main line of the Canadian Pacific, about fifty miles west of Winnipeg, and surrounded by a great wheat country, part of which has been cropped in wheat for the past 20 or 25 years. On every side were fields of grain throughout the 75 miles' run from Brandon. The fields were chiefly of wheat with a fair sprinkling of oat crop and an occasional field of barley. We saw very few fields of flax anywhere in Canada. All throughout Northwest Canada oats are grown on a considerable acreage, and no finer oats are produced anywhere in the world. We were told that the yield of oats only falls below sixty bushels per acre, and from that up to eighty, with occasional crops reaching 100 bushels. Oats in Canada, however, as a rule are not grown as a commercial crop because the elevator only handle wheat. The local demand is sufficient to consume all of the oats grown at prices ranging from 25 cents per bushel upward. Mr. McClain, the miller at Moose Jaw, told us that last spring he was wanting some oats and went to a farmer some seven miles distant who had over 3000 bushels of oats in his bin and offered him 35 cents a bushel for the oats delivered at Moose Jaw. The farmer told him that he could have the oats if he wanted to haul them, but that he had made up his mind that his own horses should not go on the roads to haul oats. In the north of Ireland the only member of the funny tribe worthy the name of fish is the salmon, and in Northwest Canada the only cereal worthy of a market is wheat. Barley is grown more as a forage crop than for the grain. Farmers claim that barley grown upon the summer fallow and harvested green for hay gives the advantage of a forage crop without in any way taking away from the benefit of the summer fallow.

At La Portage we were met by the citizens and taken for a drive through the town and through a portion of the adjacent farm lands, and afterwards they entertained us at lunch. The name La Portage is given to the magnificent stretch of level prairie lying between the Assiniboia River and Lake Manitoba, and probably got its name from early times when the trappers and voyagers carried their boats and effects from the waters of the lake to the waters of the river, or vice versa. The farm lands are well improved, houses and barns surrounded by groves, and everything denoting well established plenty. On lands cropped in wheat for the past twenty years the wheat crop this year was estimated from twenty to twenty-five bushels. The town reflects its setting in its buildings and improvements; it has three branch banks, ample hotel, mill and elevator facilities.

At La Portage we left the Canadian Pacific for the Canadian Northern. The Canadian Northern has its eastern terminus at Port Arthur, on Lake Superior, 800 miles east of Winnipeg, and it expects to be opened to Edmonton, 900 miles northwest of Winnipeg, by January 1st. It was opened in 1903, and the route now traversed was through a country which the editors had not previously seen. We journeyed over the Canadian Northern as far as Battleford, about 250 miles east of Edmonton, it being the farthest point west to which traffic was then open, although the rails were laid 100 miles farther west.

An all afternoon run brought us to the town of Dauphin, a portion of the town being through a country, not yet settled and a considerable acreage perhaps not adapted to agriculture, being covered with a growth of poplar and scrub indigenous to the country. We remained all night at Dauphin and spent the morning of the following day in an extensive ride, as the guests of the citizens, through the country adjacent to the town. Dauphin is situated on the Vermillion River, which flows into Lake Dauphin, a few miles distant from the town. A number of streams flow through this region of country, and it is well wooded along the streams, being what the Canadians call a park or bluff country. A park country is a prairie country well dotted with clumps of trees and ponds or small lakes. A park country is always an indication of abundant rainfall. About Dauphin is some of the finest agricultural country in all Northwest Canada. The staple products are as yet wheat and oats, and here we saw many sections and half sections of wheat, the yield estimated at from thirty to forty bushels per acre, and in some rare cases as high as fifty bushels, and fields of oats estimated at from seventy to eighty bushels. Northwest Canada as yet is distinctively a wheat country, and not much effort is being expended in any other direction. But we saw enough while traversing the different parts of Canada to make us very optimistic as to the future of the country should it become necessary later on to diversify the crops.

Leaving Dauphin about noon, our next destination was Battleford, the end of traffic on the Canadian Northern. We journeyed steadily all afternoon and until about two o'clock next morning before reaching Battleford, through a country much of the way level and it seemed a perfect tableland, having only the natural curve of the earth's surface. Sitting in the observation end of the car we noted mile indexes, which were boards nailed to telegraph poles at about ten feet above the ground. We could see this mile index from one mile post to the next. During the afternoon we passed through the Doukour settlements, communistic settlements of Russian peasants, having among them a fanatical sect who at different times have started out on a journey to find the Saviour, previously having discarded all their earthly possessions and in some instances their clothing, starting out in the condition in which they were born. In the main, however, they have developed into good farmers, and are developing a good citizenship and making the country blossom as the rose. We also passed through different Mennonite settlements, outcroppings from the communistic settlement spoken of previously. They are everywhere good farmers and are said to be becoming well established in this world's goods. The new town of Battleford is situated on the south side of the Saskatchewan River. The old town of Battleford, which is quite a historic old town, lies on the north side of the river, and has a population of from 800 to 1000 people. The Saskatchewan is navigable as far as Edmonton, 250 miles farther west. It is the Mississippi of Northwest Canada. The new town of Battleford is only a few months old, but already numbers fifty buildings with many more in progress of erection. Its banks are already established, and the hotel and livery stable accommodations are ample. The pioneer of Northwest Canada enjoys many great advantages which the pioneers of the United States did not have. The pioneers of Northwest Canada found an organized government awaiting them, with abundance of police protection, and life and property as safe as in the old settled communities. They found also the railways going in advance of the pioneer and making the country easily accessible with supplies of fuel and lumber and the necessities of life not much if any dearer than in older settled communities. About Battleford is a fine agricultural country of upland prairies very sparsely settled as yet. From Battleford to Edmonton lies, as we are told, throughout the entire distance the same stretch of fertile land, among the richest in Canada and easily accessible to settlement. Homesteads are growing comparatively scarce in Canada, but in this region, lying west from Battleford to Edmonton, and on the 14th of September approximately thirty thousand homesteads yet to be taken up.

Leaving Battleford next morning we turned back in order to see the country by day light over which we had passed during the night. We found the country a land of broad level prairies, rich in agricultural possibilities, vast stretches of it untouched as yet by the plow of the farmer. After traversing the country from La Portage to Battleford, a journey of about six hundred miles, one of the enthusiastic members of our party remarked that he had not seen a foot of land upon which a good farmer could not make a paying crop.

At Warman, the junction of the Q'Appelle, Long Lake & Saskatchewan railway with the Canadian Northern, we turned north to Prince Albert. Prince Albert lies in about 33 degrees north latitude and 108 degrees west longitude, on the Saskatchewan River and on navigable waters. It was late when we reached Prince Albert and consequently we did not get to see the outlying country, parts of which are said to be finely adapted to agriculture. At Prince Albert are large lumber, milling, industries, and it is well located to develop into a city of commercial importance. We were entertained here by the citizens at a banquet. Prince Albert aspires to become the permanent capital of the new province of Saskatchewan. While the editor's excursion was in Canada the Territories of Northwest Canada ceased to exist and the provinces, or as we would say, the states, of Saskatchewan and Alberta took their places in the Dominion Government, replacing the Territories. The Province of Saskatchewan extends to Manitoba and from the international boundary to 55 degrees north latitude. The Province of Alberta from 110 degrees west longitude to the Rocky mountains, and from the United States boundary to 55 degrees north latitude, giving to each of the new provinces about 250,000 square miles of area. For years many leading Canadians have thought that Hudson Bay offered a practical route for trans-Atlantic shipments. This route would bring the ship in fields of Northwest Canada 150 miles nearer the European markets. The objection to the Hudson Bay route has been that it would not be open for commerce more than about three months in the year on account of the ice, but as this region becomes better known it is believed that the route would not be closed for more than three

THE OPERA.

"The Bohemian Girl" was the bill at Robertson Hall last evening. There was a good attendance. The opera has less of humor than those presented earlier in the week, but the presentation was quite as good. The splendid solos "I dreamt I dwelt in marble halls," by Miss Norcia; "The Heart Bowed Down," by Mr. Campbell, and "Then You'll Remember Me," by Mr. Walters were well rendered and received generous applause. Much of the chorus work was excellent.

Comedy holds the boards again tonight when "The Mikado" will be presented. The opera is full of opportunities for fun-making and with Amson and Leslie in leading comic roles, those attending tonight should enjoy themselves.

months, if at all, in the middle of the summer, when there is a possibility that the route might be interfered with by drifting ice and floating ice bergs. It is believed by many that the Canadian Northern will build in the next two or three years a railway stretching from the Alberta district to a port on Hudson Bay. In case of the building of this road Prince Albert would hope from its location to secure the road through it, and thus have its commercial advantages greatly enhanced.

On our journey to Prince Albert we stopped at Rosthern, where we were tendered a wild duck luncheon by the citizens and were taken for a ride through the country. The region about Rosthern is of great excellence and much of it finely improved. The town of Rosthern is in about 51 degrees north latitude and 106 degrees west longitude. In the drive through the country we found the farmers living in houses which would be called good, substantial houses even in Iowa, the houses surrounded by groves, and large, well built barns; houses and barns painted, and everything bearing the impress of prosperous times. At Isaac Dyck's, a German farmer, where we stopped, we found growing in the garden potatoes, cucumbers, peas, tomatoes, onions, carrots, beans, cabbage and fruits. At La Portage we had seen Dutchess apple trees well filled with a good quality of apples. We may mention that at the Dominion experiment farms experiments are being conducted with good promise to produce hardy apples adapted to the Northwest. All throughout Northwest Canada small fruit can be successfully grown and in some localities hardy varieties of apples.

From Prince Albert our journey lay southeast over the Q'Appelle, Long Lake & Warman, and coming down to Saskatoon, we again came into a well settled country. We found fine farm houses, barns, and out buildings, and wheat stretching away on either side of the railway as far as the eye could reach. We made short stops at Hanley and Davidson, where, through the courtesy of the citizens, drives were made through the wheat fields adjacent to town. We found it an exceedingly fertile country, with very heavy fields of wheat and oats. At Lumsden, on this road, we made an excursion of some nine miles to Last Mountain Lake, where we were tendered a trip on the steamer owned by The Wm. Pearson Land Company, of Winnipeg. This lake is navigable for a distance of sixty miles with a width ranging from a mile to two or three miles, and with a maximum depth of about 100 feet. It is really a cleft in the prairie, for when you have reached the tops of the bluffs which rise above it to a height of probably eighty or ninety feet, you are simply at the level of the broad prairie land which stretches away to the eastward. This country, we are told, is a bluff country (which means, as we have explained, a country covered with clumps of trees), with a fine light, or quick soil. The scenery about Last Mountain Lake is as beautiful as much of the scenery in the Highlands of Scotland, and as the country grows older the region around this lake is bound to become a famous summer resort. Stretching away to the southward from Last Mountain Lake and Lumsden is a heavy clay land which has made Regina and the country stretching away east to Indian Head and forty miles south to Weyburn famous as a great wheat country.

Leaving Lumsden at night, we ran down to Regina, and from there east to Indian Head. Indian Head is celebrated for two reasons: It is in the heart of one of the richest wheat countries in Canada, and is the location of the Dominion experiment farm under the direction of Mr. Angus McKay, than whom no man in Canada holds a higher place in the respect of farmers. Indian Head is a little north of the 50th parallel and west of the 103rd meridian at an altitude of about 2300 feet. It is on the main line of the Canadian Pacific, and along the tracks of this road one may count eleven elevators and a flour-mill. At the experiment farm about the same crops are grown as at Brandon, the only difference being that the yields of small grain at Indian Head are a little heavier. Here also more attention is being paid to grain experiments. The standard wheat in Canada are the Fyfes. The red Fyfe is the standard of No. 1 hard. At Indian Head we saw a hybrid known as the Preston, a bearded wheat produced by a cross with the red Fyfe. The crop on this field was estimated at five bushels. The quality of the grain is equal to that of the red Fyfe and would grade No. 1. It is several days earlier in ripening than the Fyfe, which means very much in that climate, where occasionally an early frost will damage late varieties of wheat. This wheat resembles in appearance the Early Fyfe. At Red Deer, in Northern Alberta, Mr. Geo. F. Root, formerly of Des Moines, is making an experiment with the Early Java. This year is the second year that he has will soon be needed, and no doubt they will go with a rush.

If you want a first class up to date Cast Iron Range that has been a winner for many years, we have the "Happy Thought". There is more of this Range in use than any other one Range in Canada, and no person has ever heard of a poor one. Then, if you want an all steel and malleable iron range, we have the "Monarch." You cannot break this range and it has a mirror polished top which makes it a thing of beauty to look at as well as to use.

For any up to date line of heating stoves we think we have them all beat. It is not a case of you having to take what we have; our assortment justifies us in saying you can get just what you want from us.

We have from the smallest to the largest heating stoves in any style and for any purpose, to burn both coal and wood, or both. The prices are made to suit the pockets of all, and while we make only a very small profit on each stove we think the quantity we sell justifies us in saying that we can sell on so close a margin and still hold our own. We have everything in stove trimmings, and first class mechanics to deliver and put them up. Do not waste time in asking all over the city, but come direct to us.

grown the red Eyre, quite as good a producer, and several days earlier.

Turning back to Regina, 360 miles west of Winnipeg, we passed a quiet Sunday afternoon inspecting the city. Formerly the capital of the Northwest Territory, it is now the temporary capital of the new Province of Saskatchewan, and will probably become the permanent capital. In an open sewer we were enabled to inspect the soil for a depth of nearly thirty feet, a dark soil, the subsoil being of very little lighter color to the very bottom of the sewer, both the upper and subsoil having much the appearance of silt. This is a feature which seems common to almost all of Northwest Canada, the soil appearing almost as fine as silk, and not cracking with drought as does our Iowa soil. It seems to be capable of retaining all of the moisture it receives, and losing little or none by evaporation.

Leaving Regina over the main line of the Canadian Pacific we ran forty miles west to Moose Jaw. Here the main line is joined by the Soo Line, from Minneapolis and St. Paul. It is under the control of the Canadian Pacific, and is the shortest railway line between St. Paul and the Pacific coast. At Moose Jaw we found a pyramid of grains from the surrounding region, having in addition to the wheat and oats found everywhere, rye, barley, and flax, and grass specimens. We noted at different points in this region timely of rank growth in the midst of the prairie grass, evidently from seed scattered during the railway construction. Here we were invited by the gardener to walk through the gardens maintained by the Canadian Pacific railroad about the station. This is a very common feature at many Canadian railway stations. It serves as an advertisement to show what can be produced and also affords a considerable revenue, as the garden stuff produced is all gathered and marketed in the cities to the east and west. Here we found growing in profusion and of good quality almost all the vegetable and root crops common in the gardens of our middle states. About the only difference noticeable is that here the garden is divided into small plots, each plot surrounded by a hedge, serving as a windbreak and helping to conserve heat and moisture; and the tith is brought to the point of perfection. Through the courtesy of the citizens we were taken for a drive in the country. Here the land resembles more the gentle undulating prairies of Iowa, and is exceptionally fertile. The farms are large and the houses and barns roomy and comfortable. Here, as at other points, were pointed out the farms of men who have amassed a competency in a few years.

Leaving Moose Jaw over the main line of the Canadian Pacific, we started on a ten hours' run for Dunsmore Junction, where we left the main line for the Crow's Nest Pass branch for Lethbridge. A few miles west of Moose Jaw we passed beyond the limits of continuous settlement and grain growing and began the ascent of the steppe lying east of the Rockies. At no point is the ascent very marked, and here and there along the route are farms and scattered settlements to be seen showing that this country which was formerly considered arid and fit only for stock raising is gradually being taken up for agricultural purposes. Here one notes traces of alkali, but it is said to be of a kind favorable to vegetation rather than otherwise. Small bodies of water are frequent and generally team with water fowl. Old Wives Lakes, two rather expansive bodies of water lying to the south of the railway, have no outlet and are too alkaline. One peculiarity of the ponds and small lakes throughout this entire region is that the margins and bottoms are clear of vegetation.

For Family Colds

A reliable cough and cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear. It is always easier, cheaper and better to check a cold in the very beginning.

It is safer, too. Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, has been tested for thirty-three years, and tens of thousands of homes in Canada and the United States to-day are never without it.

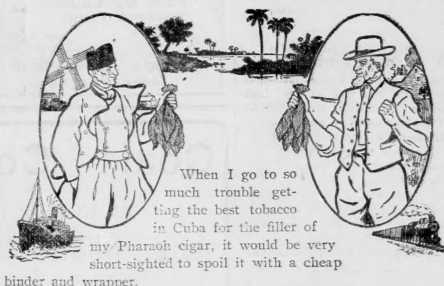

A dealer writes: "Shiloh's Consumption Cure is without doubt the best remedy for Coughs and Colds on the market. I have used it, my customers will testify to it. L. Elder, Nanawauke, Ont."

If it were anything but the best would this be so? Try it in your own family. If it does not cure, you get back all its cost. We take all the chances. Neither you nor your dealer can lose. Isn't that fair? 25c is the price. All dealers in medicine sell.

When I go to so much trouble getting the best tobacco in Cuba for the filler of my Pharaoh cigar, it would be very short-sighted to spoil it with a cheap binder and wrapper.

Of course the binder and wrapper are only about 20 per cent. of the cigar, but I do not let that small portion drop below the high standard I have set for the other 80 per cent. of my Pharaoh Cigar.

To hold the filler together I use a Connecticut broadleaf binder. This is the best binder money can buy.

I import direct from Holland a specially selected Sumatra wrapper—a genuine, clear leaf—the finest wrapper grown.

It is this personal care which I give to every detail in the manufacture of my Pharaoh cigar that makes it such a superior smoke. It is a full flavored, palatable, mellow cigar. Price 10c.

None genuine unless branded "Pha-ro."

W. C. T. U. RECEPTION

Strathcona and Edmonton Branches
Unite to Welcome Wife of Lieut.
Gov. Bulyea

Contributed

Wednesday afternoon the parlors of the McDougall Methodist church were transformed into a veritable bower of loveliness, when the Edmonton and Strathcona branches of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, with their friends, assembled there to do honor to their Provincial Vice-President Mrs. Bulyea.

The reception committee consisting of Mrs. Bellamy, Mrs. McKinnon and Mrs. Dr. Smith met the guest of honor at the door and conducted her to a seat reserved for her beside our veteran member Mrs. James McDougall, while Miss Crawford and Miss Pansy Kemp discoursed sweet music on the piano.

The following address of welcome was then read by the President of the Edmonton Union, Mrs. Bellamy, and a beautiful bouquet of white Chrysanthemums was presented by little Amy Bellamy:

ADDRESS

Dear Mrs. Bulyea: While our province is congratulating itself on the men chosen to guide its affairs of state at this formative period, it seems fitting that the Edmonton branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union should be accorded the high privilege of welcoming to Alberta's capital, in the wife of its first Lieutenant Governor, our esteemed Provincial Vice President.

Our organization stands for truth, and righteousness and we rejoice that so whole-hearted an exponent of our principles has been called to be the first mistress of the Government House. The saying that "No nation rises higher than its womanhood" is indisputable in a general sense, but who can estimate the good example such as yours must exert on the social life of this rising city.

"Where is the seed we scatter
With ofttimes trembling hand,
Beside the seething waters,
Or on the barren land?
Not last! for after many days
Our prayers and toil shall turn to praise."

Our Union cordially welcomes you to its membership and looks forward to an era of increased usefulness. In concluding allow us to express the hope that your sojourn in Edmonton may be a thoroughly happy one and to assure you of our prayerful sympathy in your new duties.

In reply Mrs. Bulyea expressed her appreciation of the kindness of spirit which had prompted such a welcome.

She had expected to find Edmonton a very pretty place to live in, but judging from the faces present and the prevalent atmosphere of harmony, Edmonton was likely to prove much more than pretty in fact congenial an inspiring.

While realizing the responsibility of her new duties, Mrs. Bulyea thought perhaps they had overestimated her influence and emphasized the great importance of woman's work in the home.

She concluded her impressive talk by trusting that, when her stay in Edmonton should be over, they might all feel that the Temperance principles so dear to herself and the organization she represents, should not have suffered at her hands.

Mrs. Kerr of Alberta College rendered in a very pleasing manner the songs by Noel Johnston (At The Rose, Oh The River and the Sea, after which it fell to Mrs. McDougall's lot to perform the pleasant duty of presenting the ladies to Mrs. Bulyea.

Mrs. Bennett's song "O Dry Those Tears" (Ly Teresa Del Reigo) with violin and piano accompaniment, was received with much applause.

Delicious refreshments were then served, the tea table prettily decorated with white carnations and asparagus ferns, was presided over by Mrs. Huff and Mrs. Wellbourn. This very enjoyable affair was brought to a close by singing the Temperance Doxology.

Praise God from whom all blessings flow,
Praise Him who leads the drunkard's woe;
Praise Him who leads the Temperance host,
Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost.
